

SWAY Program

For preschools and early learning centres in the Shoalhaven

Noah's Inclusion Services is proud to provide the Sounds, Words, Aboriginal language and Yarning (SWAY) Program in preschools and early learning centres in the Shoalhaven.

SWAY is an oral language and early literacy program that embeds Aboriginal language and yarns within the early learning environment. This program not only supports children's learning and development but it also builds capacity of teaching staff through training and mentoring.

Speech Pathologists work with educators to plan and implement a range of evidence-based oral language strategies in Key Learning Areas including language, communication, listening skills and storytelling.

Local Aboriginal language words are shared throughout the learning experiences in a culturally-appropriate way. This encourages meaningful learning and appreciation of local culture and history and works towards building children's cultural identity and sense of community.

For more information about the SWAY Program, please phone Noah's Inclusion Services on (02) 4423 5022 or Mel Harpur on 0447 272 354

Mel Harpur

Program Coordinator
Early Childhood Teacher

Ali Tilbrook

Speech Pathologist

Shona Hojem

Speech Pathologist

Samantha Ottey

Speech Pathologist

The Noah's Inclusion Services SWAY Team supports your child's learning & development